THE BETTER CURRENCY.

Spurious bills to en immener amount are in circulation all over the country. It is the duty of the press to courten the public significant wiles of the lawless scoundrels, who are prace tising on the Loco Foco principle and sending forth their worthless rags upon the community, based upon nothing but the declaration from Read quarters that they are good sough for the people.

These rage are made to remaible & Bank Bill. and are generally declated to he payable or redeemable at some Bank, known to be sound, or not known at all. Of such a character is that notired in our columns by an advertisement of the President of the Middling Interest Bank, Boston, We have seen many others of a similar character. purporting to be the promises of some "Land Company" or " Lumber Company," or other soul-less and charter less bubble to pay the am specified at the Eastern Bank in this city, or the Kingston Bank, Upper Canada, or at a Benking factitution in Missouris Hilmois. THE SUSQUEHANNA.

It is useless to publish the thousand rumors with which the newspapers are now filled in relation to the alleged piracy of the Susquehanna. One day we are told that the anxiety of the public mind is entirely relieved by the satisfactory information that the suspictous looking wessel seen alongside the ship was an ovster craft, absiracting a small quantity of specie in exchange for a lew bushels of oysters. The next day brings us news of some vessel just arrived which saw the burning of a ship not for from the place where the pilots declare that the capture took place, and a rakish looking schooner near the ship, witnessing the conflagration. The day following we hear of the arrival of a vessel in New York which passed and spoke the Susquehanna the day after the alleged piracy, quietly pursuing her voyage and then follows a long account of a police examination in Philadelphia, in which, it is said; facts were elicited tending to show that the piracy had been determined upon long previous to the sailing of the Susquebanna, and that the "nater thieves" had provided themselves with accomplices in the crew and passengers of the ship. The succeeding mail tells us that this police in--vestigation is all bosh and the Philadelphia papers give no account & it.

questio peratu to take is that adopted by the ton Courier in relation to the Florida War. We think therefore we shall direct our compositor to stereotype two lines, thus

The Susquehanna is captured. The Susquehanna is not captured ____ to appear alternately from day to day, until the matter shall be finally coitled.

(From the N. York Jour. Commerce.) THE ROCHESTER MURDER CONFESSED. ROCHESTER, Oct. 26th, 1837.

Gentlemen, f wrale your on the 24th inst in great haste, giving you some particulars of Ly-man, and of the arrest of three individuals; whose names are Octavius Barron, Peter Philothers connected with them, have been indelatigable in their endeavors to ferret out the whole matter. Tuesday and Wednesday were spent in examining the prisoners with but little effict; until last evening - You will recollect I stated in my other communication, that three individuals were arrested at the depot of the Tonawan. being made for them and their trunks, that Barron jumped out of the car he was in and ran about one hundred rods to the second depot, and from where the train is taken west by the engines. He was so far shead of the officer in pursuit, that when he arrived at the second dec pot he was out of sight. He went into a large pile of wood, where he secreted $400, which was found last evening and recognized as part of the money received by Lyman on the 23d ult. The money was wrapped up in a white linen handkerchief, which was found to belong to to Barron. This morning at an early hour, Barron finding hunself so closely pursued by the testimony and no doubt the workings of a guilty conscience, that he confessed the whole matter He states that Philwell'shot Lyman, and that he took the money. Here we have snother proof that 'murder will out' The investign. tions too have had another good effect, and have caused the arrest of others, and for other offences, and have put our police and officers of justice on the track and resort of other dens of inlamous characters. From the well known effiof this kind, it is fair to conclude that we have not finished up this business yet One fact more I would mention, relating to the wife and her sufferings. She states that he was in the habit of returning to the house at an early hour in the evening, that is, about 9 o'clock that when the hour of his return had arrived and passed by she became uneasy, and had the resolution repeatedly formed of giving for some of the neighbors to look for her husband, but did not: hour stole upon hour until morning As soon as day light appeared, or soon after, she went to the window, looking in that direction he would or should have returned. The first phiert that met her view was her unfortunate ruthless hand of a worse than larharian, had cliberately muidered, dragged and lett him. The reflections that he was murdered within a few yards of his house, that she heard distinouly the report of the pistol, but too deliberately aimed, gives rise to feelings that none can de-The safest course for a newspaper in this scribe, and much less, any but herself feel.

> A VILE OUTRAGE. We copy from a Savannah paper an account of a shameful outrage committed upon the person of an individual The whole affair is disgraceful in the extreme, but is treated as an excellent joke. " Sale of an Abolitionist. Judge Lynch has been at work again.

On Sept. 28, it was ascertained that Capt Hugget. (an Englishmun) aditio www. Fritz then lying at Jacksonville, Ga. had been making a boast of his Abolition principles to Mr. L. on board a steambout. This linformation reached the ears of three of the right sort, from Camden County, Ga. then at Jucksonville, and gaused them to place up publicly, the following:

Notice. The Captain of the schr. Polly, now lying in the port of Jacksonville, is an Aboli tionist He is also an English Abolitionist. It s hoped that the good citizens of the South will is hoped that the good treat the yillein accordingly.

Pursuant to the above, the three individuals S. F. R., A. S., and L. R., a bove alluded to, strolled forth after night and encountered Capt Huggett. When addressed upon the subject of his vile principles, he was rather big with the injured feelings of a gen; tleman, and denied: but Mr. L was called in for proof, and Captain Huggett was clearly and and most fully proved an Abolititionist. Of the Triumvirate in judgment, Judge Lynch happened to be one, and awarded the following

'That Captain Huggett shall be blacked and sold as a slave at Public Sale.' Captain Huggett was therefore, beutifully metamophosed into a negro by a shining cont of Essence of Twee; then put up for sale, and after much bidding wine knocked off to the highest hidder for 182 cents. DEPARTURE OF THE INDIANS. The delegation of Sac and Fox Indians left he city vesterday, the representatives of the other tribes having departed the day before The ceremonies attending the reception of the Sacs and Foxes at the State House on Monday, were of a most interesting character, and will not be soon forgotten by those who witnessed them. ciency of many who have the charge of affairs Governor Everett deserves infinite credit for the tact, which he manifested throughout that part of the performances which devolved upon him. His speech to the Indians was singularly appropriate, and it was evident, from the replies of the Cniefs, that it made upon them a strong impression

The war dance went on without interraction. It was a grotesque exhibition, but the Indiana entered into it with much animation? Reckuck in particular seemed to feel the excitement of the occasion; and the chief with the buffalo's horns upon big head, who is one of the principal warriors, was conspicuous for his movements in the dance. Towards the close of the performances, as they were proceeding round the husband, extended upon the ground, where the area, in consequence of a sudden rush which they made towards a crowd of women and children, they produced considerable consternation among the crowd; and their war-whoop was drowned for a moment by screams and shouls of laughter. The day passed off, however, without any accident; and both the Indians and the spectators of the show appeared highly grati-

At the Tremout. teh of them were present to wifness Forrest's performance in the Gladiator. The second act of this play closes with a general fight between the gladiators and their Roman musters. Upon the representation of this scene the Indians seemed much excited, and joined in a general war whoop: Some of their ball drew their swords from the scabbards -- for they had every one been presented with a sword and brace of pistols by the Governor. They manifested no out the performance.

This visit of the Indians has been quite a novelty for our citizens. Curiosity has been considerably excited, and ample opportunity has been afforded for its gratification. Northing has occurred to mar the comity and amity of our intercourse with these interesting strangers

A-Good Hird One of the best things of the kind (says the editor of the Massillon Gazette) I have seen, in many a day, is me preamble and resolution offered at a White meeting in this town, on Saturday evening, by one of our hard fisted workies. It was received and passed with acclamation. Whether it be regarded for the truth of its statements, his logical deducsed to stand at the head of the whole presuble and resolution family. Here it is :-

"Whereas The Chief Magistrate of the Union boasted of following in the footsteps of his Blustrious predecessor, and pledged himself to carry out his measures and whereas, one of the leading principles of his administration was the prostration of the credit system, in defend-ing which, he alleged, that "all who trade on borrowed capital ought to fail " and, whereas, Martin Van Buren was elected, not by any merit or ability of his own, but solely by the known recommendation and popularity of the 'revered chief' therefore, be it Resolved That insemuch as Martin Van Buren is trading OR BORROWED CAPITAL, DE OUGHA TO FAIL!

lave... Well, after all life itself is but e dim prologue to that day of days, when the curtain of evernity will be diffed, and the "awelling act" begun. The thought is a deep one. Here, we are begirt with mystery. The Pant rises with its shadows, only to the eye of the Imagination: of the Wrong that has flourished and been succrestill, we know not yet the destiny; of the Right that hay suffered, in wearings and painfulress, we know not the reward. Who shall unraved the marvel, or dispel the illusion? Of the events which happened tender, when we were yet "ir. the dark night of our fore-beings," or ever the stars, or the moon, walking in brightness, or the sun, glorious shadow and faint type of Gon! had touched our mortal vision, when shall tell? The time pone is a dream -- the lime to come, unknown. Truly did one of vore say. as he discoursed of sepulchral menentos, and turned his thoughts to the lofty structures of Egyptian ambition: "Time-sadly overcometh all things, and is now dominant, and sitteth up. on a spliynx, and looketh unto Memphis and old Thebes; while his sister, Oblivion, semi somnous, on a paryinid making puzzles of Titanian erections, and turning old glories into dreams. History sinketh beneath her cloud -The traveler, as he paceth, amazedly, through those deserts, asketh of her, who builded them and she mumbled something, but what it is, he heareth not." Thus it is, the position of our our being defies all primary or ultimate inquiry.

H we look back there is a point where know ledge fades into conjecture ; if onward, westandupon the horder of a sea with but one shore and whose heavings beyond are infinite and eternal! Of what avail is it, then, that we bend over the fore of antiquity, or was pule over the midnight lamp that we walk in the helds, catching the faint atterance of the voice of God? We spend our strength for naught; the clouds rollwith an uncomprehended impulse; the wave heaves the verdore brightens, the wind turneth in its cir. with "but what are we?
